

Construction

Whether the claim has arisen from a small annual policy or a large project policy, it requires a swift, coordinated and expert response. The geographical distribution of our team of experienced and qualified adjusters enables them to be on site within hours. Investigations are undertaken quickly and recovery programmes agreed with a minimum of fuss and delay.

Technical expertise, commercial awareness

We understand the dynamics, complexities and customs of the construction industry.

Through our experience in the construction and commercial insurance markets we are regularly involved in claims within annual or project policies, many of which have bespoke wordings. As well as demanding a mature and sophisticated approach, these claims often involve multiple parties and require sensitive handling which recognises the commercial interests of all stakeholders. With Vericclaim, you are assured that these interests are properly managed without compromising the technical aspects of the investigation.

Our experience is also available at the planning stage of a project, to ensure that practices are properly conducted and in accordance with the intentions of all parties and stakeholders.

Key features and benefits of the Vericclaim service include:

- Rapid, professional response – our teams are geographically based Out of hours contact and visit
- An understanding of the often complicated contractual arrangements which are prevalent within the construction industry
- Early identification of recoveries and evidence gathering, enhancing recovery prospects Management of stakeholders' expectations, no nasty surprises

- An imaginative and commercial approach to claims resolution, with a focus on prompt settlement and the proper management of cash flow.
